DID THE CAPTION IRRITATE YOU?

It certainly would me!

My mother was an avid grammarian and Mr. Bechtle, my high school English teacher, was adamant about using proper English grammar and punctuation. So saying "She done it, she seen it" is like running fingernails down a blackboard! Here was a poem my Mother loved:

Has her gone,
Has her went,
Has her left me all alone

Us can never go to she,
Her can never come to we,
It cannot was!

How much more could be wrong!

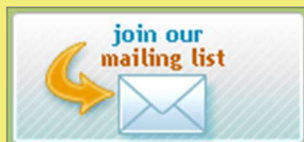

So why am I doing this?

When writing a proposal, a press release, an e-mail, a text message, make a point to be correct ... spelling, punctuation, correct tense, etc. It may not be important to you but ... it might be the difference between making a sale or losing it because of the reader's mindset. I can't stand typos or sloppy writing. I don't even bother with it ... how many more are like me? Don't know but it doesn't take much to do it right!
