

April 6, 2022

I know some of you still have snow on the ground, BUT here in New Jersey the daffodils are blooming, the pear trees are in full flower, and the magnolia trees are in full bloom as well. And, the days are getting longer and the sun is out! Life is beautiful!

Veronika B., a junior in high, school approached me a couple of months ago asking if she could help raise money for Sylvia's Children. "Of course," I said. Then she went on to decide on the project which is building a model farm that would then be a tourist attraction. (We have visited others like this and they are very popular with visitors.) Presently, the school has chickens and some goats, but the following other animals are needed:

2 cows
5 goats
50 rabbits

Let me tell you how you can help...Click on this link to be directed to GoFundMe and decide if you would like to help purchase a cow for $900, a goat for $120, or a rabbit for $25. Maybe you could get five friends together and each donate $50 so that a goat could be purchased for the farm--you would even get to name the animal if you desire.

Of course, this is a wonderful time of year to think about buying rabbits.

We will also need to buy a barn and 10,000 bricks which are $1 each (I, myself have just installed a brick kitchen floor in our home and that's a great price for a brick.)

If you are in a position to help out, or even just share this cause with a friend or family member it would be greatly appreciated.

Sylvia's Children's goal is to help the school be completely self-reliant--his is just one more step toward that goal. Anything you can do will be appreciated.
